Pathways

Hornets Follow

A student enrolled in Thomas Carr Howe High School has many pathways from which to choose. Each requires consideration for no road is traveled successfully without effort. While the knowledge gained from the academic path is purposeful, rewards from occupational training can be as meaningful. Time spent pursuing athletic recognition is of value to both participants and spectators. Activities along each pathway make it exciting and memorable. Once Howe's paths have been toured, graduates must consider their future itinerary. Review in the 1968 HILL-TOPPER, the pathways you traveled this year.

Students Arrive At School Each Morning

From All Directions

Whether a student or faculty member approaches the school from Railroad Street, Julian Avenue, or Washington Street, he experiences a feeling of accomplishment when he views the sprawling Gothic architecture on grounds landscaped with flowering trees and shrubs.

Four additions in Howe's thirty year history have provided educational and athletic facilities for over twenty two hundred students and a staff of one hundred sixteen teachers. Students were pleased this fall to note the school's name being placed on the auditorium wall.

School's Activities

Appeal To Interests Of All Howeites

While teaching is the purpose of a school's curriculum, learning is not limited to classroom situations. Social graces are best learned from actual experiences. Consequently, Homecoming ceremonies, fashion shows, and dances give Howe students the opportunity to practice such skills.

Students behind the scenes on these occasions have the additional advantage of learning to organize events and to work with people.

Upon the successful completion of a year's work students receive recognition on Honors Day and at Federal Inspection. These events reward those who excel academically and those who participate in extra-curricular activities. Other awards are presented to various organizations and individuals throughout the year.

Academic Pathway Challenges Students

To Exert Best Efforts

Long and filled with numerous inconveniences, the academic road is reluctantly trudged along by some, eagerly traveled by others. Its paths, branching out and leading in many directions, continue the process of education through the student's concentrated effort.

Tangible proof that knowledge is being gained is the odor of the most recent chemistry experiment; the crowded library during study periods; students seeking advice from counselors and administrators; and the sounds of the "Battle of Bunker Hill" coming from certain history classes.

Further evidence of learning is exhibited in the successful lives Howe students enjoy following graduation, whether they continue their education, marry, or become employed.

Organizations Encourage Participants

Meeting in formal groups and in informal gatherings, many organizations are of service to the school. Although some are merely for the enjoyment of the participants, all encourage academic interest and participation in other school events.

Demonstrating the talent to be found at Howe, the Choir and Orchestra or Girls' Drill Team and Band often unite to entertain visitors to the school. R.O.T.C. sponsors joined the boys' Rifle Team on the firing range and nearly outshot the boys.

Other acquaintances are made as students pull together to assure a Hornet victory in the stadium or in the gymnasium.

To Develop Individual Interests

Athletes Fight Way Along Road

To Victory Or Defeat

Both boys and girls travel the athletic path. Some choose to participate; some to direct the spirit of the student body; some merely to watch others in action. All students approach contests with a sincere determination to do their best. A victory is heralded with joy for a job well done; defeat emphasizes the need to try a little harder.

Howeites participate in a well-developed intra-mural program as well as inter-school competition. Last year Miss Janice Brown organized a gymnastic team that continued to gain interest and momentum this year. Mrs. Barbara Wood, cheerleader sponsor, had more applications for positions than ever before.

Coaches spent many hours helping individuals develop their potentials so that Howe teams would function smoothly as units. As difficult as the athletic road is to follow, results, even in defeat, are gratifying for participants and spectators.

Individual Pathways

Each day new acquaintances are made and new friendships are formed as individual paths of students cross in classes and study halls, at athletic contests and other extra-curricular activities, and during the five minutes between classes.

From the time freshmen are welcomed the first day of school until they parade through the front doors in caps and gowns, no two days are exactly alike. Each day is filled, not only with learning in the classroom, but most importantly, learning from other people, students and teachers alike.

Exchanging ideas, questioning each other, observing one another's action—all tend to mold the personalities of Howe students into those of wise adults.

Criss-cross In A Never Ending Maze

Graduation Demands More Decisions

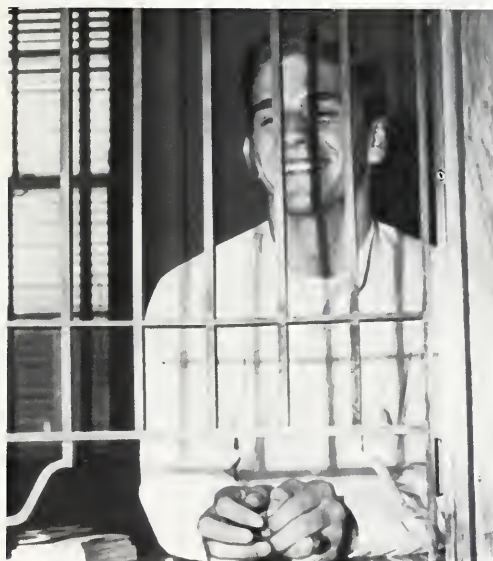

A senior, reflecting on his high school career, is either proud, regretful, or indifferent. Some approach graduation with tears, others with a sigh of relief. Regardless, decisions have been made; certain paths have been followed.

Now, another decision must be made. Should the future include more schooling, a job, or marriage? College applications, some mailed last fall, were tediously prepared and answers anxiously awaited. Offers of jobs were considered; marriage plans were discussed. Intermingled with these decisions were all the enjoyable senior activities beginning with the election of officers and terminating with the Prom.

After graduation, paths of alumni will diverge into many areas, many never to cross again. An attempt is made by the Alumni Association to reunite classmates at Homecomings and at the annual dance in June.

Academics

Class Choices

School Board regulations require all public high school students to complete specific class assignments before graduation. However, few pupils at Howe limit their programs to fundamentals. Electives in the Music, Art, R.O.T.C., Foreign Language, Business Education, Physical Education, Industrial Arts, and Home Economics Departments permit Howeites to be well versed in many fields. Today's industries stress the need for understanding both science and math. English classes impress upon students the importance of precise writing, distinct enunciation, and comprehensive reading, but these inturn transfer to all other learning situations.

Determined By Aptitudes And Interests

Oral-Aural-Visual, New Freshman

Oral-Aural-Visual, one of the innovations added to the English Department this year, used tape recorders to teach students to write better compositions. Mr. Jack Weaver and Mrs. LaVerne Coffin were chosen to teach the freshman course.

Changes were made in other English courses by Miss Ellen O'Drain, department head. English 1 and 2 were combined into a one-year course in preparation for future combinations of upper level classes. Humanities was expanded to a two semester course designed to study important periods in the development of Western Civilization.

In addition to regular English classes students could elect Dramatics, Speech, Etymology, or Library Practice in the department. Developmental Reading is required of each Howe student.

Mr. Bruce Beck, Director of Productions, holds an English conference with one of his students as Mrs. Charles Poole, office assistant, checks attendance lists.

Miss Paula Barbour, a new member of the English Department, explains the correct book report form to a group of students.

Dramatics students Gil Hubbard and Vickie Bienz exhibit Method Acting utilizing stage scaffolding, while Charles Jones and Brucie Moore offer helpful criticisms.

Class, Added To English Curriculum

Ellen O'Drain—English Department head, Sandra Atkins, Mariette Baker, Elizabeth Baldwin, Paula Barbour, Sue Beard, Bruce Beck, Sandra Brady, Elinor Bretzlaff, Steven Briggs, LaVerne Coffin, Dale Dinkens, John Ervin, Patricia Fitzpatrick, Rhoda Kittelsen, Wayne Mellott, Ruth Mercer, Martha Mitchell, Marguerite Sights, Dorothy Smith, Shirley Smith, H. C. Tobin, Mary Weakley, Jack Weaver.

Mr. John Ervin nods his approval as members of his English literature class grasp the point he has been making.

Informed Social Studies Students

Hartwell Kayler—Social Studies Department head, Phillip Brown, Audrey DeVore, Don Evans, Ron Finkbinder, Laura Gaus, Dorothe Kirk, Mary McLane, Stanley Phillips, Emma Randall, James Stainbrook, David Stewart. Each of these teachers has a Master's Degree.

Mr. Ron Finkbinder, faculty sponsor of the Nationalist Party, discusses campaign strategy with one of his classes.

Mr. James Stainbrook reviews a few of the world's problems during his International Relations class.

Study The Past, Question The Future

Under the guidance of department head, Mr. Hartwell Kayler, the Social Studies Department brings to life the history of mankind for all Howe students. With this knowledge Howeites are better able to evaluate current happenings.

While U.S. History classes serve as a foundation for the department, Government and Economics are also required courses.

Students majoring in Social Studies may elect World History, Psychology, Social Problems, Latin American Civilization or Indiana History.

Before class begins Mrs. Laura Gaus, checks an extra-credit report for one of her World History students.

Mrs. Audrey DeVore, returning to Howe this semester, goes over plans for the History Club with junior Rita Robbins.

Mr. Hartwell Kayler, head of the department, points out some interesting articles from the Senior Scholastic magazine to Mr. Don Evans, who returned to Howe this semester from Colorado, and Mr. Philip Brown, as Mr. Ron Finkbiner observes.

Math Department Updates Curriculum,

Marie Wilcox—Math Department head, Donald Kerr, Edward Kuonen, Fred Lemley, D. Robert Mitchell, Ruth Reed, Justin Rehm, Harrison Richardson, Glenn Rohde, Mary Smuck, Mrs. Wilcox, noted textbook authoress, is often invited to speak to mathematics teachers throughout the nation.

Reviewing their lesson plans for Beginning Algebra and General Math are Mrs. Ruth Reed and Mrs. Mary Smuck.

Mrs. Marie Wilcox grades papers from one of her Trigonometry classes at her desk in the Math Department office. As well as supervising the department, she also teaches advanced courses.

Adds New Course

Because of the expanded use of computers in the fields of science and business, Howe's Mathematics Department added its eleventh semester course, Computer Math, to the curriculum this year.

According to tests given in elementary schools, freshman are placed in Basic Math, General Math, or Algebra. To satisfy academic diploma requirements students must also pass Geometry 1 and 2.

Those students majoring in math then progress through Intermediate and College Algebra courses. If they double their math load one semester or attend summer school, qualified students enroll in Trigonometry and Calculus.

Students passing Calculus with B or better earn advance college placement, according to Mrs. Marie Wilcox, head of the Mathematics Department.

Mr. Fred Lemley prepares a test for several of his Pre-Algebra Math classes. Tests provide the basis for most grading.

Mr. Harrison Richardson corrects Jesse Anderson on an important principle of probability in Algebra 3. Mr. Richardson also teaches classes in Geometry and Algebra 4.

Howe's first Computer Math class observes as Mr. Glenn Rohde explains an intricate problem in program planning.

Miss Kenna Jo Stone, physical science and biology teacher, pauses in the midst of an experiment to stress a point.

Summer institutes, workshops, and seminars offer students and teachers the opportunity to further their knowledge in science.

Mr. Charles Gwaltney, chemistry teacher, spent last summer at Indiana University on a National Science Foundation grant. Senior Carl Lagenaur and junior Hal Gustin attended summer institutes, and eight students represented Howe at the high school seminar held each Saturday morning at the Indiana University Medical Center.

Under the direction of Mr. William Smith, basic courses in the physical and biological sciences are offered, as well as Physics, Chemistry, and Advanced Biology and Chemistry.

Extra Assignments

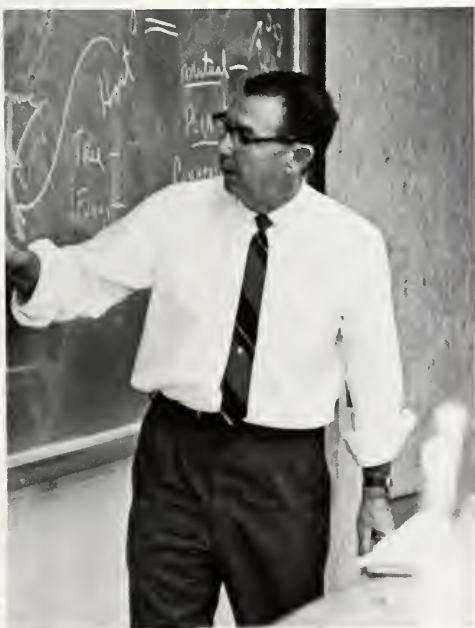

A few burnt fingers are always in evidence as students in a chemistry class practice glass heating and bending techniques in preparation for their first experiment requiring the apparatus. Students also make wash bottles and jet tubes.

Increase Scope Of Science Department

Mr. William Smith, department head, explains a relationship of parasite and host to his biology class.

Jayne Forgey, senior scholar, receives help with a physics problem from Mr. Richard Hammond, Howe's only instructor who teaches the advanced course.

Understanding Of People And Language

Mary Thumma—Foreign Language Department head, Jeanne Brace, Vesta Cohee, Heather Hall, Raymond Hulce, Rogelio Riquelme, and Martha Sauer. These teachers help pupils to learn not only about the language, but also about the country and the people.

After receiving instructions in the use of the lab equipment, Denise Hayes strives to perfect her pronunciation.

Mrs. Vesta Cohee, Howe's only Latin teacher, ponders over a question from one of her students.

Miss Jeanne Brace, a newcomer this year to the language department, supervises a class in the laboratory.

Is Department Aim

Striving for an understanding of the people of foreign lands as well as their language is the aim of the Foreign Language Department.

Each year Howe students majoring in language vie for positions in the Indiana University Honors Program. Last summer Barbara Shadiow and Margaret Lake spent two months in France under the auspices of the program, while Robert Barnes studied in Mexico. At various meetings this year the Howeites have described their stay abroad.

Offering Spanish, French, and Latin, the department also sponsors the National French Honor Society and the Latin Club as extra activities.

Dr. Rogelio Riquelme, a native Cuban, listens attentively as a student explains a problem she is having in Spanish.

Language students spend at least one day each week in the lab listening to tapes and imitating the speaker.

National Merit Semi-finalist Jonathan List questions Mrs. Vesta Cohee in an advanced Latin class.

Lyle Nave—Industrial Arts Department head, Norman Cogan, Leslie Hash, Jack Lawson, Richard McLeish, William Walker. These instructors teach the industrial innovations which demand additional vocational skills.

Major changes have occurred in the Industrial Arts Department to update its curriculum considerably. New printing equipment includes an offset printing press and varitype headliner, an IBM selective type compositor, and a light table and new darkroom facilities.

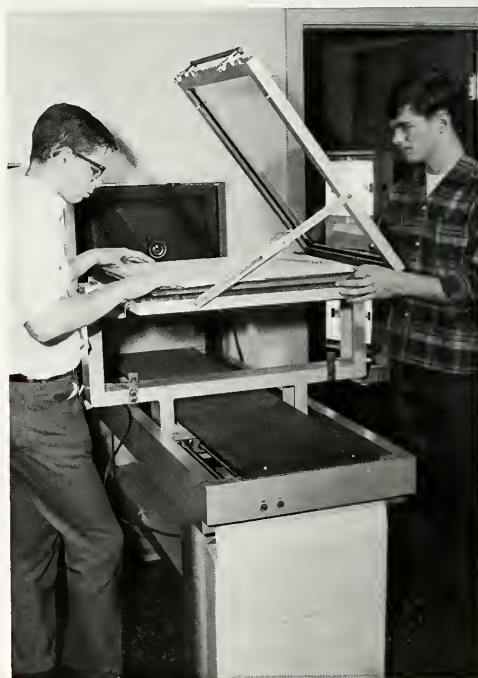

Utilizing this new equipment, the department printed a schedule of classes for Mr. Frank Tout, Business Association membership forms for Mr. George Jackson, and the PTA yearbooks.

Woodworking, mechanical drawing, metal shop, and drafting are offered in the Industrial Arts Department under the direction of Mr. Lyle Nave.

New Skills Taught In Industrial Arts

Mr. Norman Cogan, woodshop instructor, looks on as Ronnie Orr uses the horizontal saw on a length of plywood.

George Kutche, junior, and Bob Bandy, senior, position copy on the vacuum feeder to be photographed for the offset press.

Department Emphasizes Domestic Arts

Swatches of colors are tested against the student's complexion before material is selected by the girls in Clothing 1.

Lois Coy—Home Economics Department head, Doris Cartwright, Blanche Ferguson, Barbara Kelsner. Increased student interest in this department necessitated the addition of Mrs. Ferguson to the staff this year.

Although classes in foods and clothing are the primary course offerings in the Home Economics Department, other choices are available.

Economical and efficient methods of operating a household are important points taught in Housing and Management. A unit on interior decorating is also included in the course.

Home Nursing, another elective, allows students to learn the rules of first aid, care of the bedridden, and other nursing techniques.

How to plan a well-balanced meal and the importance of good nutrition are factors stressed in foods classes. In both basic and advanced clothing classes color coordination, materials study, pattern fitting, and design are taught. Girls progress from blouses to complex dressmaking.

Home Economics students Alice Noxon, JoAnn Qualls, and Terri Rodman practice preparing apples in different and tasty ways. Their experiments are sampled by classmates.

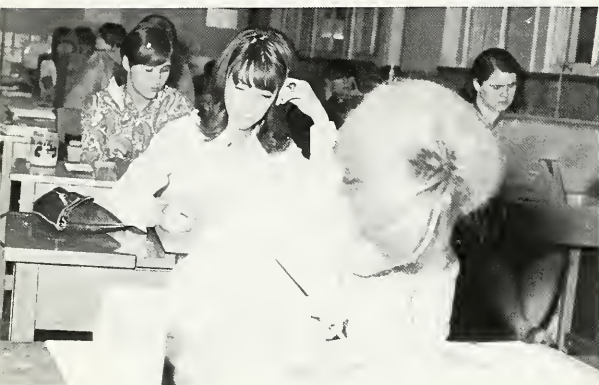

Art Department Aids Creative Talent

Howe's Art Department offers stimulating courses for talented students. While beginning students can enroll in Craft Arts where they work with canvas, clay, or metal, producing beautiful sculpture and jewelry, more advanced pupils can elect classes in fashion design for a knowledge of form, line, and color. Other interested students choose to take Commercial Art for a background in advertising or commercial photography.

Heading the Art Department is Mr. F. M. Howard. Also teaching classes this year are Mr. William Cunningham and Mr. Charles Pirtle.

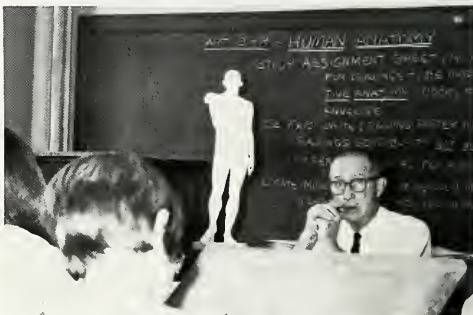

F. M. Howard—Art Department head, William Cunningham, Charles Pirtle. These teachers encourage creativity in their students.

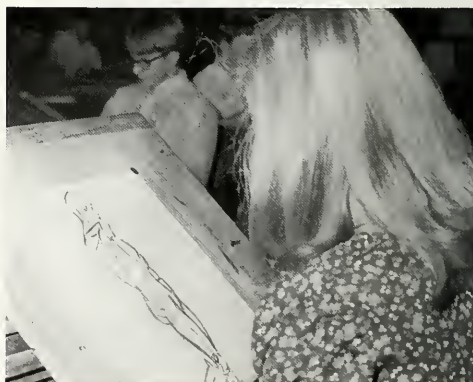

Beginning art pupils put the finishing touches on water color flower designs. This is only one phase of the course.

Art student Judy Farrell practices brush strokes in water color as Kathy Frisbee works on another technique.

Mr. F. M. Howard, head of the Art Department, observe his advanced art class as his pupils begin human anatomy drawings.

Human anatomy drawings are an important part of Advanced Art classes first semester work.

Musicians Improve Skills By Practice

Accompanying one of his five chorus classes is Mr. Robert Bramblett, who also directs the Madrigals and the Boys' Octet.

Members of the Concert Choir entertain at the annual Christmas Community Sing with "Rudolph, the Red-Nosed Reindeer."

Frank Watkins—Music Department head, Robert Bramblett, William Handley, Louis McEnderfer. These instructors build student talent both vocally and instrumentally to form all six of Howe's performing groups.

Musical ability is first exhibited in earnest when a student reaches high school age. Howe's Music Department encourages interested students in beginning chorus classes to continue in Concert Club and Choir. For those pupils going into advanced music, theory and appreciation courses are recommended to aid in the understanding of music, its make-up and history.

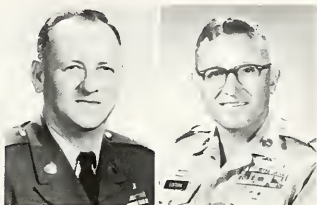

Supplementing regular music courses are six performing groups including the Band, the Orchestra, the String Ensemble, the Boys' Octet, the Girls' Ensemble, and the Madrigals, which participate in city-wide programs.

Wearing ensemble uniforms of the '40's, members of the Boys' Octet participate in a Pleasant Run Varieties dress rehearsal. This group performs in many community programs with the Girls' Ensemble.

ROTC Encourages All Military Careers

SFC Bascom Perdue—
Commandant, M/Sgt.
Harold M. Eckman.
These men offer good advice and training to all cadets.

With the draft facing every teenage boy, two hundred Howeites enrolled in ROTC this year improve their chances for Officer Training School admittance. Assisting ROTC instructors in preparing boys for enlistment is Lieutenant Colonel Brad Eshelman, senior battalion commander.

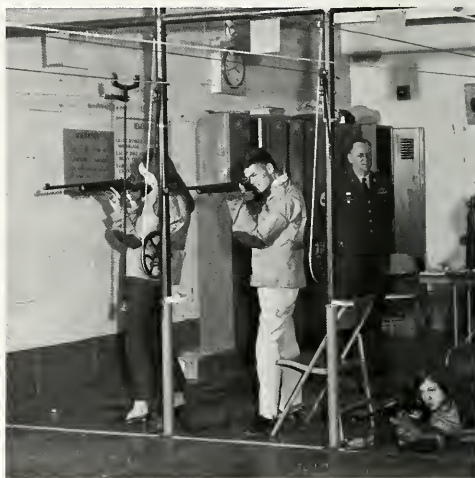

Promotion rewards the student who masters basic commands and codes. Weekly inspections by the honorary ROTC sponsors test cadets' military knowledge and evaluate their appearance.

ROTC sponsors proved their ability on the firing range against other Hornets and were granted the right to compete in city matches.

Inspecting PFC John Licking are 2nd Lt. Danny Oney, Hon. 2nd Lt. Meredith Craig, and Sgt. John Mindach.

Rifle team members Theresa McNeill, Scott Watson, and Janet Runciman utilize Howe's basement firing range.

Business Courses Offer The Old And New

Under the direction of department head Mr. George Jackson, the Business Department strives to meet the challenges of Howe students. Whether the pupil is interested in business as a career or for merely experience, there are many interesting courses from which to choose. Typing and shorthand are recommended to all students as an aid to all high school and college work.

A fairly new course at Howe is Introduction to Data Processing. This course, taught without machines, emphasizes fundamentals. Advanced work may be taken at Tech High School. Specialized training that business students receive prepares them for immediate employment.

Students enrolled in Machine Calculation practice to develop speed and accuracy on a variety of office equipment.

Department head Mr. George Jackson, and business students Linda Coffin and Jill Kraeszig experiment with new equipment that the department received for its shorthand lab.

Mr. George Jackson—Business Department head, Patricia Aman, David Baugh, Mary Callaway, George Gray, Linda Hankins, Jean Hollman, Sherman Pittenger, John Skene, and Luise Smith. Mr. Jackson replaced Mr. Pittenger as head of the department this year. Mr. Pittenger had served six years as department head.

Department's Classes Meet Needs

James Stutz—Physical Education Department head, James Black, Janice Brown, Barbara Wood. Many girls are enrolled in Advanced Physical Education because it delves deeper into the many different phases of gymnastics.

A varied program is offered to freshman by the Physical Education Department. Rhythmics, team and individual sports, and gymnastics are taught. Boys' physical education classes are designed to encourage them to participate in athletics along with realizing the responsibility of team work, good health habits, and good sportsmanship.

Advanced physical education classes differ from freshman classes in that they are elective, and the activities taught are more challenging. Girls electing advanced physical education serve as gym assistants in the freshman classes.

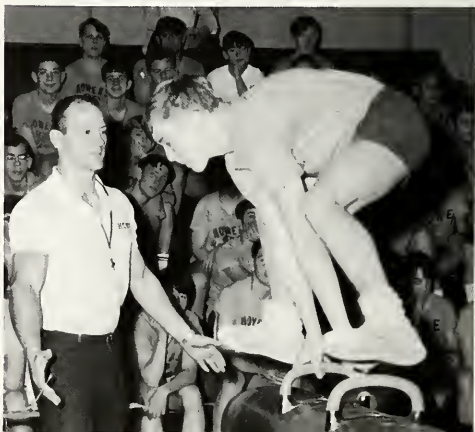

Modern dance is one activity carried on in the Girls' Physical Education classes. Miss Janice Brown's advanced third hour demonstrates the front fall from a dance sequence.

Miss June Medcalfe, an exchange teacher from England now teaching at Wood High School, discusses differences in curriculum with Mr. Thomas Stirling, and Mrs. Barbara Wood.

Of Physical Fitness, Driver Training

Trying to get the student to assume the responsibility of looking after his own health is the goal for which all health teachers strive. Extra credit is given to students who obtain a physical and dental check-up, and with the permission of the parents, tuberculosis tests are given free to any student by the nurse, Mrs. Margaret Whaley.

Analysis of drivers on the road as well as self-examination of driving techniques is part of the drivers education program. Films of automobile accidents stress the importance of safe driving practices and procedures.

Samuel Kelley—Athletic Director, James Poalston, Margaret Whaley—School Nurse, Robert Wion. Speakers on mental health, narcotics, and first aid are available every year to talk to the students. Several films are at the disposal of the department throughout the school year.

Mr. Robert Wion, head football mentor, points out the biceps muscle to students in the health class he also teaches.

Patty Beitz, junior, checks the rear-view mirror as she prepares to leave the teachers' parking lot.

Students who distinguish themselves either in academics, extra-curricular activities, or school service are rewarded for their efforts in the Honors Day Ceremony held each spring with certificates presented by Principal Mr. Thomas Stirling.

Honors Day Ceremony Recognizes

Bringing honor to themselves and their school are several students who received various awards throughout the year. Leading the senior class academically are Jayne Forgey, Margaret Lake, and Barbara Shadiow, who possess perfect four-year academic records. Based on citizenship and scholarship, the Altrusa Award for the outstanding junior girl was awarded to Barbara Shadiow last spring, and later Barbara was awarded the National Council of Teachers of English award.

Seniors David Russell and Jayne Forgey received the American Legion awards for good citizenship, and Jayne was designated as recipient of the DAR award by fellow students and members of the faculty early in the year.

Representatives chosen on the basis of school recommendation and academic record attended Hoosier Girls' and Boys' State, while outstanding students of foreign language studied abroad with the Indiana University Honors Program. Spending eight weeks in France were Barbara Shadiow and Margaret Lake, while Robert Barnes studied in Mexico for the summer.

Academic leaders of the Senior Class of 1968, Jayne Forgey, Barbara Shadiow, and Margaret Lake, are congratulated by Mr. Thomas Stirling, principal, for their achievements.

American Legion Good Citizenship awards were presented to Jayne Forgey and David Russell last year. Jayne also received the Daughters of the American Revolution award.

Representing Howe at Hoosier Girls' State last summer were seniors Nancy Hall, Nancy Poling, and Jody Plotner.

Hoosier Boys' State delegates David Russell and Guy Hawkins, seniors, spent one week at Indiana University participating in mock government activities.

Distinguished Students' Achievements

NCTE award winner Barbara Shadiow receives her certificate of merit from Miss Ellen O'Drain, English Department head. Barbara also received the Altrusa Award.

IU Honors Program winners Barbara Shadiow, Robert Barnes, and Margaret Lake lived and studied abroad last summer.

Activities

Extra-Curricular

Playing an important role in the process of education are the many activities in which students participate. These activities vary from the Mock Election and the annual musical to homecoming ceremonies and election of queens. PRV gives students the opportunity to demonstrate the varied talents to be found at Howe. Publications form the vital link in keeping both the school and community informed on recent and past events, while dances and Student Council activities highlight the year. Clubs further academic and future career interests, and honorary organizations reward excellence in scholarship, dramatics, speech, and journalism.

Activities Highlight School Year

HILLTOPPER Staff Sponsors First And

Atmosphere for this year's Brown and Gold was created by kegs of cider, paper pumpkins, and an authentic 1920 'Olds. Sponsored annually by the HILLTOPPER staff, "An Old-Fashioned Autumn" was the theme of the dance held October 14, 1967, in the school cafeteria. Music was provided by the Charles Law Septet from Ball State University. Highlighting the evening was the crowning of Brown Boy and Golden Girl by Vice-Principal, Mr. Frank Tout. Greg Kamp and Mary Ann Korbly, both seniors, were chosen to reign over the season's first dance, a Howe tradition since 1941.

Success of Howe dances is basically measured by the enthusiasm with which decorations are taken by couples.

Dancing under a canopy of glittering leaves, Howe students glide to the music at the 1967 Brown and Gold.

Last All-School Dances Of The Year

MR. TOPPER CANDIDATES FOR 1967: Dennis Foley, John Peterson, seniors; Tim Parcel, Wally Vaughn, juniors; Gary Marshall, Larry Miller, sophomores; and Rex Barrett, Jerry Ward, freshmen. Usually the best attended dance of the year, the girl-ask-boy affair was arranged by co-chairmen Donna Stephenson and Cynthia Kretheotis.

"April Showers," theme of the 1967 "Turn-About Twirl," did little to dampen the spirits of girls who invited their special guys to the HILLTOPPER-sponsored dance. Glistening raindrops accented by color-splashed umbrellas created an enhancing atmosphere of springtime for those attending.

Couples danced during the evening to the rhythm of music provided by the "Jesters." Adding to the entertainment was the presentation of the crown to "Mr. Topper of 1967," junior Tim Parcel. Tim was one of the eight candidates nominated by students in home rooms prior to the dance.

Girls and their escorts enjoyed an evening of dancing in an atmosphere of springtime and "April Showers."

Three Queens Brighten Fall And Winter

For the first time this year, there were four sections of the Indianapolis City Football Jamboree. Howe, one of the official sights, was host to Seccina, Shortridge and Tech.

Queen Martha Graves, sophomore, and escort Jerry Ward are driven around the stadium after half time ceremonies at homecoming, held October 6, 1967.

Junior Karla Pannell, introduced by Mr. Robert Wion during pre-game ceremonies, reigned as Howe's Football Jamboree queen. Candidates included: Suzan Bair and Cindy Stouffer, seniors; Carol Williams, junior; and sophomores Debbie Maudlin and Susie Perkins.

Crowned by Mr. James Stutz, Alumni Association representative, during half-time ceremonies, sophomore Martha Graves reigned over Football Homecoming festivities, while Sandra Mosley, senior, was elected Basketball Homecoming queen later in the year. Both were presented necklaces.

CANDIDATES FOR FOOTBALL HOMECOMING QUEEN AND ESCORTS: Jill Jackson, and Joe Eaton, Martha Graves and Jerry Ward, Nancy McCormick and Dennis Jackson, Joyce Poole and Greg Kamp, Barbara Cunningham and Craig Sanders, Kathy Kinney and Preston Carter, Kathy Ferguson and David Lepper, Donna Relis and Ronald Orr, Patty Marendt and Tom Summit. Mr. James Stutz, vice-president of the Howe Alumni Association, represented president Mr. David Stewart during the ceremonies and had the honor of crowning the queen. Sophomore Martha Graves received the customary flowers and necklace at the Howe-Northwest game, after anxiously awaiting the results of the vote of the members of the student body.

Ceremonies

Junior Karla Pannell was Jamboree Queen and represented Howe at the city-wide event along with fifteen other queens.

Student Council Representative Alan Rosenberger places the traditional Queen's necklace on Sandra Mosley at the close of the Basketball Homecoming crowning ceremonies.

CANDIDATES FOR THE 1967 BASKETBALL HOMECOMING QUEEN: Kathy Shaw, Judy Mansfield, Nancy Mabee, Sandy Mosley, Michele Mosley, Concetta Raimondi, Jill Jackson, and Janet Dunn.

Students attending the Winter Wonderland spent an afternoon dancing to the sounds of the "Siberian Sandmen." Seniors Laura Breedlove and Dave Gregory taught one group of dancers a new dance entitled "The Continental."

Santa Visits Annual Winter Wonderland

Santa Claus' appearance is traditionally a sign of Christmas. Another sign of Christmas to a Howe student is the publicity for the annual Winter Wonderland dance. Held on December 12, after school in the cafeteria, the Winter Wonderland was one of the first dances on the Howe social calendar. Co-chairmen Carole Cornelius and Bonnie Dentler made plans for music to be furnished by the "Siberian Sandmen," and Mark Miller was crowned King at intermission. Sponsored by the Girls' Athletic Association and the Student Council, the dance was again well attended.

Bonnie Dentler, co-chairman of the annual Winter Wonderland dance, congratulates sophomore Mark Miller on winning the crown and title "King of the Winter Wonderland."

Opposite Dances Brighten Social Year

This year a new and different dance was added to the Howe social calendar. Held in the cafeteria, "Sounds of '68" was the informal dance sponsored by the Student Council on February 16, 1968.

"The Eyes of Glory" 1967 Military Ball, was held on March 18. Executive officer Cadet Captain Paul Beaver was in charge of plans for the ball. Decorations included a large stuffed tissue paper flag hung from the ceiling with smaller flags on the tables. ROTC cadets, their dates, and guests danced to the music of "The Jesters."

Bert Perez, general chairman of the Student Council sponsored "Sounds of '68" dance, checks on some details of publicity for the new activity.

Lee Ann Denham and Nancy Keppler, members of the chaperon committee, call to verify their arrangements.

Posters, Parties, And Politics Precede

Nationalist Sponser Mr. Ron Finkbinder and Federalist Sponser Miss Mary McLane pose with nominees for governorship "Nat" Tim Parcel and "Fed" Noel Beweley.

Each year Howe students enrolled in Social Studies courses participate enthusiastically in the Mock Election. Promotion of interest in and knowledge of governmental function is the goal hoped to be achieved. Two parties, Nationalist and Federalist, begin study of the precinct structure and in about four weeks reach the state level. State convention time is one of the highlights of the election. Delegates to separate conventions make final nominations. Competition runs high as party spirit and animated voting capture the mood of true elections.

This year's election was a victory for the Federalists who captured all but three state offices. Federalist Noel Bewley won the race for governor, by only a slight margin over opponent Tim Parcel to lead his party to its first victory in four years.

The Final Vote

FEDERALIST !!

Carl Lagenaur, Federalist State Chairman, presided over the nominations that resulted in victory in state elections.

Nationalist delegates enjoyed an especially lively convention. Party spirit rose during competitive bids for nominations.

Although candidates for state offices received more publicity, those running for county offices worked with equal enthusiasm.

School Improvement: Main Purpose

Performing one of the several duties of the Student Council

President Gordon Goodwin calls the Student Council members to order during one of the bi-weekly meetings held in room 69.

Of Student Council

Throughout the year the Student Council attempts to promote school spirit and improve school conditions. Council duties include sponsoring a talent show, sockhops, and the Junior Prom.

Aided by co-sponsors Mr. Charles Ruschhaupt, vice-principal, and Mrs. Mildred Loew, Dean of Girls, the council instituted another winter dance in Howe's social calendar.

Senior Gordon Goodwin was chosen president of the Council last spring. Officers elected were Noel Bewley, vice-president; Carole Cornelius, secretary; and Greg Kamp, treasurer. During the summer Gordon attended a National Student Council convention in Pittsburg, Pennsylvania.

Bedlam breaks out in the gym as students illustrate new dances at a Student Council sponsored-sockhop.

More Pages To Improve Yearbook

Members of the 1968 HILLTOPPER staff were selected last spring on the quality of their tryout. Undertaking their first task, the staff began work on the annually sponsored Turn-About Twirl. During the summer, editors Donna Stephenson and Cindy Kretheotis with Betsy Allender attended Michigan State's yearbook workshop. At meetings held there the girls learned new journalism techniques and studied publishing ideas.

When school opened in the fall staff members began making plans for the Brown and Gold. Production of the '68 yearbook then began in earnest. To meet deadlines the staff sometimes worked on weekends writing copy and designing pages. Sponsor Mrs. Patricia Alexander aided them.

Editors Mickey Dawson, Karen Oberlies, and Betsy Allender finish typing their copy to meet the next deadline.

While Terry Poytner, faculty editor, types in the background, Index Editor John DeBoo verifies the spelling of an unusual name. John prepares and proofs all index copy.

Hornet Happenings

Tension in the TOWER office mounts to a peak as the bi-weekly deadline draws near. Page editors rush to finish layouts, chiefs-of-staff check assignments, and reporters scurry down halls to get last minute interviews. An extra-curricular activity, publication's work requires much after-school time from all staff members.

Tryouts for the staff are held early each spring, but competitors are held in suspense until staff assignments are announced at the Publications Banquet in May. Staff membership requires at least a C academic average.

Editor-in-chief Carl Lagenaur and Managing Editor Paula Scanland attended the NSPA convention in Chicago at Thanksgiving.

Students' Literary Interests Vary

Reorganized after several years, the Cub Club selected members on the basis of their interest in publications' work. Under the direction of sponsor Mrs. Patricia Alexander novice writers learn how news writing differs from prose, to conduct interviews, to organize information, and to present factual material accurately.

Material selected from cumulative English folders of students is assembled by the editors of PEN POINTS, Howe's bi-annual literary magazine. Consisting of poetry, essays, dialogues, and short stories, the publication was produced on the print shop's new offset equipment this year. Senior Charles Jones did the art work.

Journalists Eligible For Honorary

News Bureau members are responsible for keeping the community informed of all activities of students and faculty. Since public relations depend upon this type of communication, the staff has an important place in school life.

A junior or senior in the upper third of his class who has served in a supervisory capacity for one year on any Hornet publication is eligible for membership in Quill and Scroll, an international honorary for high school journalists. Prospective members must be recommended by the Director of Publications and accepted unanimously by current members. Formal initiation is held in conjunction with the annual Publications Banquet.

President Paula Scanland discusses plans for the annual Publications Banquet with Quill and Scroll officers Donna Stephenson, Kathy Scott, and Sandra Evens.

Proud Students Don NHS Arm Bands

Melinda Miller, an NHS math tutor, explains a puzzling problem to freshman Charles Jackman in the foyer lobby.

Meeting to discuss NHS business are club sponsor Mr. Robert Carnal, president Brad Eshelman, vice-president Carl Lagenaur, and secretary-treasurer Becky Cary.

Qualifying for membership in Howe's chapter of the National Honor Society is the worthy goal attained by students ranking in the upper ten per cent of the junior class and the upper fifteen per cent of the senior class each year. Eligibility demands a six point grade average.

Students whose ideals coincide with those of the society—scholarship, leadership, citizenship and service—become initiates during Tap Day ceremonies in April. Entitled to wear NHS arm bands during the following week, the students are then formally inducted.

Members in NHS volunteer their study hall periods to tutor any student wishing help in any academic subject.

FHS Creates Foreign Language Interest

Margaret Lake, IU Honors Program participant, shows FHS member Marcia Reasoner where she stayed in France.

Initiation into the French Honor Society, Howe's honorary organization for outstanding French students, takes place in the spring of each year. To acquire eligibility, new members must be enrolled in an advanced French course and maintain a six point grade average.

Meetings are held on the first Tuesday of each month or whenever special activities are planned. Only French is spoken during the meetings. FHS's activities include attending French plays, movies, and visiting French restaurants.

Presiding over the meetings this year were President Nancy Hall, Vice-president Margaret Lake, and Secretary-treasurer Mary Graves.

In 1964 the speech and debate teams of Howe were granted a charter in the National Forensic League, a national high school speech and debate honorary. Twenty-five honor points are required for membership and the first degree of excellence in the organization. Higher degrees are secured by accumulation of points and ranked on the scale designated by the national NFL offices. Both teams are coached by Mr. Steven Briggs and other members of the English department. Highlight of the speech and debate season comes when the teams participate in Sectional, Regional and State Speech Tourneys each spring.

Quick Recall One Requirement Of Team

Quiz Team members are selected on the basis of their knowledge in special areas. Sponser Mr. Ron Finkbner chose Carl Lagenaur for his outstanding abilities in math and science.

This year's Quiz Team members' quick recall and general overall knowledge made up for their lack of experience. Upholding the tradition of the 1967 City Championship Hornet Quiz Team was one of their main goals. A senior, Carl Lagenaur, two juniors, Tom Amos and Hal Gustin, and a sophomore, Dick Wood, composed the regular team while Jerry Stockdale, junior, and Phil Coffin, sophomore, were the alternates. Mr. Ron Finkbner coached the team and was assisted by Mr. Philip Brown. They held try-outs early in the first semester to narrow the field down to the final six. Sixteen public and parochial high school teams competed in the annually televised program sponsored by WLW-I.

This was the scene almost any night after school as the Quiz Team practiced a variety of questions to prepare for matches.

Stage Talents Are

Working daily through the school week and often on Saturdays, the Stage Crew is a vital facet in stage production. Duties include building sets, organizing costumes and props, and applying make-up, as well as caring for lighting and sound equipment. Director of Productions Mr. Bruce Beck organizes all stage work.

Any student interested in dramatics is welcome to join Footlight Revelers. Four one-act plays are given during the year by the group, sponsored by Mrs. Harriette Baker.

After earning ten points for contributing 100 stage hours, Revelers are eligible for membership in Thespians, national honorary.

'Happiness Is' An Entertaining Evening

Pillow case and baggy blue jean clad "Hokey Pokey" creatures were one of the highlights of the 1967 Pleasant Run Varieties.

Belts fastened tightly around knees prevented co-ordinated movements but added humor to the girls' gyrations.

To the strains of "Down at Papa Joes' ", the PRV closed another success when Tom Hamill bellowed, "How sweet it is!"

Byron Spice told about life in "Alice in Hippieland" while Laurel Pope and Pam Evans "protested" for "Flower Power."

Spent At Papa Joe's

"This year, the madrigals, who customarily sing eighteenth century music, sang an arrangement of "Bouree for Bach."

Karen Gold and Bonnie Dentler, sensational tap dance team, whirl through a jazz routine at the PRV.

Backstage at the PRV, Miss Rhoda Kittelsen, stage crew supervisor, and Valeri Shawver add touches to performers' make-up.

"Happiness Is . . ." was the theme of the first act of the 1967 Pleasant Run Varieties. Spotlights were focused upon individual performers and their varied talents. Members of the audience showed enthusiasm for the several group acts, including the "Hokey Pokey" creatures, the hillbilly performance of "When It's Toothpickin' Time In False Teeth Valley", the Sadie Hawkins-inspired "Jubilation T. Cornpone", and the "Peanuts" gang.

Act Two centered around Papa Joe's, a gathering place for teens of many eras. Entertainment began on a modern beat with music of a combo. As the show continued, the audience was taken back through the decades via song and dance to the 1920's. An all-cast finale concluded the performance with the song "Down at Papa Joe's".

Eliza Doolittle, a cockney flower peddler, changed from a grimey street urchin to a very proper young lady through the efforts of Professor Henry Higgins, a noted phoneticist, and his mother Mrs. Higgins.

With the polish that many months of practice assures, the cast of "My Fair Lady" gave three performances before appreciative audiences the last week of March. A light-hearted musical adapted from George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion," the story concerns the transformation of a ragged cockney flower girl into a proper lady.

Although the story and lilting tunes are familiar to most everyone, the lovely voice and merry antics of senior Jayne Forgey as Eliza increased the enjoyment of the production for Howe theatergoers. Harold Potter, junior, effectively portrayed the acid Professor Henry Higgins who had to make good his boast that he could pass Eliza off as a Princess at the annual Embassy Ball.

Mr. William Cunningham, Mrs. Sandra Atkins, Mrs. Barbara Wood, Mr. William Handley, Mr. Lyle Nave, Mrs. Janet McNeill, Mr. Bob Bramblett, and Mr. Dave Stahly, faculty members, worked closely with Mr. Bruce Beck, Miss Rhoda Kittelsen, and Mr. Frank Watkins who were in charge of the annual musical.

English Flower Girl

Freddy Eynsford-Hill fell in love with Eliza after she became a lady. Eliza once considered leaving Higgins to marry Freddy.

Eliza's "too perfect" English caused phoneticist Zoltan Karpathy to question her authenticity at the Embassy Ball. Henry Higgins, his mother Mrs. Higgins, and Colonel Pickering pay close attention to see if their deception has been detected.

Orchestra Assumes

A talented conductor and fifty-six musicians compose the orchestra. Lending their support to the vocal section of the music department, the group often accompanies the Choir.

Long hours of practice during and after school enables the orchestra to give well-received performances for the senior play, Vespers, a Pops Concert at Eastgate, and their own spring concert. Endeavoring to promote interest in instrumental music, they also play for nearby grade schools.

Howe Band Members March in Cadence

Even before school began in the fall members of the band were rehearsing both music and marching routines in preparation for their year's performances. Under the direction of Mr. Louis McEnderfer, the band entertained at the Football Jamboree, all home game half-time ceremonies, and marched in the Veteran's Day Parade.

In addition to participating in Band Recognition Day on the Circle for the past eleven years, the Hornets have received national awards from the Music Study Club and from the American Legion.

Mr. McEnderfer was ably assisted this year by seniors Michael Dawson, drum major, and David Liddle, student director, who also directed the Pep Band.

In the spring stirring band music lent a patriotic mood to Federal Inspection, a feeling of excitement to the "500" Parade and to the race itself, and a nostalgic air to commencement. A final concert, the Instrumental Music Festival, gave the band the opportunity to display its versatility.

And For The Surrounding Community

Members of Howe's largest vocal group, the Concert Choir, are selected from the Boys' and Girls' Choruses and Choralaires. Under the direction of Mr. Frank Watkins, department head, the Choir rehearses daily during the first period. Performances are given at school functions during the year, and choir members form a nucleus around which a musical production is perfected each spring.

Both boys and girls whose voices blend harmoniously are selected from the Choir to form individual ensembles. On occasion the groups give performances together; more often, however, each Ensemble entertains individually. Directors are Mr. Watkins and Mr. Bob Bramblett.

In long skirts, the Girls' Ensemble sang "Red, Red Robin" to recall another era during the annual PRV.

Groups Perform A Variety Of Music

Annually the Concert Club and the Madrigals provide Howe and the community with a lively variety of music. In 1951 the Concert Club was organized by Mr. Frank Watkins. Since that time this all-girl group has performed at various churches, the All-City Festivals, and the Spring Vocal Festival.

Mr. Robert Bramblett conducts the Madrigals and chooses the members by audition only. Early risers, Madrigals members practice before school each morning. They entertain annually at the PRV and other school functions. This was Mr. Bramblett's fourth year to sponser the group.

Good Fellowship

Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y are both part of the National YMCA movement. Hi-Y, sponsored by Mr. Thomas Totten, is open to all Howe boys. Included in the club's activities are a combined meeting and swimming party at the YMCA, guest speakers, and the election of members of the club to attend the Model United Nations. Miss Mary McLane is the sponsor of Tri-Hi-Y, a club for junior and senior girls. Activities this year included guest speakers, such as Mrs. Vesta Cohee, who showed her filmstrips of England, and a representative of the John Robert Powers Finishing School, who spoke to the girls about a career in modeling. Tri-Hi-Y meets twice a month.

Each Christmas an Indiana Girls' School representative speaks to Tri-Hi-Y members about the need for gifts at the school.

Sponsored by the YMCA, the Model UN operates similarly to the United Nations with countries making proposals which are voted upon by the General Assembly.

Schools from all over the state and clubs of local YMCA's took part in the program. Students from Howe represented the countries of Luxemburg, the Philippines, Somalia, France, Kuwait, Madagascar, Yemen, Tanzania, and Indonesia. Election of officers was held at an earlier meeting in February.

Frosh Girls Get Acquainted In Selofra

Officers of Selofra are Bonnie Derrington, Paula Launer, Sherry Grove, sponsor Mrs. Barbara Keiser, and Debbie Jackson.

New members of Selofra make a continuous chain of friendship as part of their initiation ceremony.

Through SERVICE, LOYALTY, and FRIENDSHIP, Selofra aims to help freshman girls get acquainted with Howe and to make new friends. Programs include panel discussions, parties, and guest speakers who give advice on studying and adjusting to school.

Mrs. Barbara Keiser, sponsor, helps the officers plan their bi-weekly meetings. Members this year elected Paula Launer, president, Bonnie Derrington, vice-president, Sherry Grove, secretary, and Debbie Jackson, treasurer, to direct activities.

Activities of the Future Business Leaders of America provide an opportunity for students to prepare more fully for business occupations. Members of FBLA attend state and national conventions and conferences with other chapters in this area. The club, sponsored by Mrs. Linda Hankins, also encourages improvement in scholarship and school loyalty.

Future Teachers of America helps students gain a knowledge of the teaching profession. This organization also gives members helpful information about colleges and universities that are known for their teacher-training programs.

Business Managers, directed by Mr. David Stahly, are a group of students who volunteer extra-curricular time to sell tickets at all school functions. They donate their time and often miss performances in order to serve the public.

Officers of the Future Business Leaders are Anna Wheatley, Bill Dixon, Patti Dulin, and Sharon Brinson.

Miss Patricia Fitzpatrick, sponsor of Future Teachers of America, and Katrina Hughes make plans for the next meeting.

History, Latin, And Chess Clubs Interest

Weekend excursions to historical sights in the state, trips to local landmarks, and tours of historical homes and buildings increase the knowledge and interest of students who are members of the History Club. Mrs. Audrey DeVore is sponsor of the organization.

Beginning with the "sale" of freshman slaves, the Latin Club strives to make the daily happenings in Roman times an integral part of the language study. Mrs. Vesta Cohee, sponsor, encourages all Latin students to join the club.

Chess Club members work to better their game. They meet each Tuesday with Mr. Jack Weaver, sponsor, to learn newly published rules, to practice maneuvers, and to compete against other players in inter-school and intra-school matches.

LATIN CLUB: FRONT ROW—Paula Carman, Deborah Blackmon, Peggy Becklehimer, Loretta Blackwell, Marcia Mathels, Bob Muse, Neil Pinney. Athletics

Athletic Teams

A stadium filled with cold, cheering fans, the excitement of an over-time basketball game, cross-country runners practicing on damp mornings and on crisp afternoons, a hard-fighting city-champion football team—all served to promote pride in an athletic program that again enjoyed a successful year. Continuing a Howe tradition of athletic excellence in these endeavors as well as in track, golf, wrestling, and tennis, athletics prove to be not only the victories and defeats of a season, but the combined efforts of determined athletes, skilled coaches, supporting fans, able cheerleaders, and good facilities.

Continue Howe Tradition Of Victories

Spirited Prize-Winning Cheerleaders

FRESHMAN CHEERLEADERS: Patty Marendt, Debbie Breedlove, Diane Watson, Verna Wall, Jeannette Gerzon, Bobbie Bergdoll. These cheerleaders were chosen at try-outs held early in the school year.

Varsity cheerleaders brave the cold and rain to spark school spirit with their enthusiastic cheers and yells.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS: Carole Cornelius, Linda Johnson, Karen Gold, Bonnie Dentler, Lee Ann Denham, Marilyn Duhamell. Proudly displayed is the trophy won at the Twenty-first Annual Cheerleader's Conference held at Indiana University in which the varsity squad placed first in their division. Three of the girls also won recognition for their efforts at a Vincennes University summer camp where they competed with other cheerleaders from around the state.

Encourage Many Hornet Victories

A noted asset to any athletic event is Howe's cheerleaders. Their enthusiasm helps to promote school spirit and team support with much work done behind the scenes.

Three groups of cheerleaders back the teams. All games and other sports functions are attended by the varsity squad with the reserve and freshman cheerleaders in attendance at all home football games. In addition, the reserve squad must also attend the county basketball games.

Mrs. Barbara Wood, sponsor, works with the cheerleaders not only in preparation for games, but also for participation in competition.

Sophomore Sherry Thomas was chosen Hornet mascot for the 1967-68 athletic season in tryouts held in the fall.

Lettermen Serve School While

Reserve cheerleaders concentrate their efforts on members of the Booster Club who sit in the center of the cheerblock at basketball games. In addition to assisting varsity yell leaders at football games the girls attend all reserve contests.

Members of the new Booster Club meet with the cheerleaders and a few members of the pep-band to learn new cheers and yells.

Football Letterman Bill Slater performs the duty of keeping the fans off the floor by holding the ropes at basketball games.

Booster Club Assists Cheerleaders

Members of all athletic teams who win varsity letters are eligible for membership in the Lettermen's Club. A service organization, the Club co-sponsors the Winter Wonderland Dance. Members also direct traffic and take tickets at games.

Assisting the cheerleaders in promoting school spirit is the Booster Club. Sponsored by Mrs. Barbara Wood and Mrs. Patricia Aman, the club meets each week to learn new cheers and to practice with the cheerleaders for the coming game.

Steve Henderson, letterman, presents Concetta Raimindi a basketball program as she enters the gym.

Assisting at a home game is senior Dennis Belter who punches a season ticket at the door for Nancy Smith.

City Champs! Coach Wion, Team Earn

For the first time in Howe's history the Hornets were City Champs in football. In the race for the championship the team enjoyed a 7-1 edge over city opponents. Even though Shortridge compiled an 8-1 record, coaches voted Howe the top position. Key game in deciding the championship was the 14-7 Hornet victory over defending State Champ Washington. Top awards at the Fall Sports Banquet went to Noel Bewley, Best Mental Attitude; Jim King, Most Valuable Player; and Bill Slater, Coaches Award-Most Improved Player. Varsity team members elected Jerry Bertram and Tom Marendt, co-captains.

Senior football team members Noel Bewley and Jim King admire the City Champs trophy as Athletic Director Sam Kelly looks on.

Quarterback Don Branham sets the team and calls the signals in this action from the Northwest game—the Hornets won 27—0.

Trainer Dale Dinkens wrapped Bill Slater's knee and repaired other minor injuries sustained by the athletic teams.

Gridders Boast Highly Potent Offense

A powerful team and successful football season made the gridiron sport king at Howe for the first time this year. Much credit goes to Coach Bob "Smokey" Wion for bringing a new football spirit to the school; his two year 16-4 record proves his coaching ability. Coach Wion's success is measured not only in the outstanding records his teams earn, but also in the determined attitude his teams inherently acquire through their constant association with him during the football season.

Running back Don Britton prepares to 'straight-arm' a Bloomington University player as he cuts around left end.

Don Branham, perhaps the best back-up quarterback in the city, passes on the run in action during the Northwest game.

Northwest's Pioneers effectively gang tackle Don Britton as Hornet end Jim King (40) arrives too late to help.

Often during the course of the season a game is decided by only one point. The extra-point kicker is, therefore, an important member of the team. Don Britton boots one towards the goal posts in an attempt to score a PAT against Seccina.

Tight Defense One Of The Best In City

Jim King scrambles to recover a fumble by University. Jim, a senior, was elected an All-City end by the Star-News.

While compiling the best season record in many years and winning the coveted City Championship, Hornet gridders piled up a total of 286 points against their opponents' 69 markers. Most colleges would enjoy having the resulting 21.7 average victory margin.

Outstanding football players from city high schools are named to honorary All-City teams by local sports writers. This year Howe was proud to have senior Jim King named to the honorary squad. Nominated on the basis of his city record of 14 touchdown passes caught during the season, Jim was also valuable to the Hornet team as a blocker and a tight end. Senior Doug Maudlin and junior Jerry Bertram received honorable mention.

Two previous All-City players from Howe, Willie Lenzy and Frank Crossland, played in the Shrine All-Star game last summer at Victory Field. Both boys were a credit to Howe, to their coaches Mr. Bob Wion and Mr. Dick McLeish, and to the game.

RESERVE FOOTBALL: FRONT ROW—Steve Knoy, Steve Chadwick, Craig Reed, Ric Wren, Bob Dych, Jim Cherry, Tim Scott, Tom Sarfaty. Mr. Dave Stewart, a former Howe grid star, coached the reserve football team to their best record in many years. Because the team roster fluctuates with the varsity during the season, a junior varsity team that ends the season with a winning record is an exceptional team. Quarterback Larry Scharbrough tossed ten touchdown passes for the JV's. Bob Dych, Marty Lee, Steve Chadwick, Pat Dugan, Bill Dixon, Greg Graham and Dennis Walston also drew the praise of Coach Stewart.

Monday afternoons are reserved for JV and freshman gridiron clashes. Alternating home and away games, the team's opponents are the same teams scheduled for the varsity the next Friday.

Outstanding Year

For most of the boys on the freshman football team, the experience they receive is their first in organized football. Doing a fine job of adjusting to high school, the frosh finished with a winning season—something rare in freshman play. Coach Ray Riley completed his first year as frosh coach with a 6—4 record. Leading scorer for the team was Tom Summit, half-back, with 51 points. He was followed by Dennis Haygood and Lenny Thornburg with 39 and 35 points, respectively.

With only two returning lettermen, the varsity cross country team had an exceptional year. By virtue of their third place finish in the Sectionals, the harriers advanced to the regional meet for the third straight year. Charles Melling and Gary Robling were ranked one and two, respectively, and finished the year in these positions. Freshman Peter Van-Marren was moved up to the varsity squad and ran well during the year.

Reserve Harriers Place Second In City

Mr. William Walker, varsity and junior varsity coach, continued to get results from his forceful training program for Hornet runners.

Chuck Pettee, the reserve City Champion, and Jim Aldrich, who placed fourth, led the team to the runners-up spot in the City meet. Running the same day as the varsity, the JV's compiled a fine season record while the varsity beat 66 teams and lost to 27. Fourteen of the varsity's defeats came at the hands of teams who finished 1—2—3 in neighboring Kentucky and in Indiana.

Although the freshman harriers practiced diligently, their season record proved disappointing. Coach Richard Patterson worked hard with the boys at a time when they were adjusting to a new and different life—high school. Freshman Peter VanMaaren, who was placed on the varsity squad early in the season because of his exceptional long distance running ability, proved to be a drastic loss to the freshman thinly-clads. Losing many meets by only a few points, VanMaaren undoubtedly would have made a difference in many scores.

Senior Jim King (22), leading scorer for the varsity team, stops on the proverbial dime while Steve Davis moves up to offer help.

Although the season record fails to indicate an exceptionally strong basketball team, Howe has every reason to be proud of its team. And the use of the term "team" is not used without justification—the Hornet roundballers came back many times during the year to fight on even after many Howe supporters became resigned to defeat. Quite a number of the regular season games were lost by only a few points and only after a struggle; one game in particular would have been a tie game requiring an overtime but for the questionable call of an official. In summary, the 1967-1968 season may be described as a season of determination and fight which fell short of the mark in the won-lost column.

Stutzmen Fight Through Tough Season

Coach Jim Stutz emotes confidence to his players while he gives them instructions on how to combat the other team.

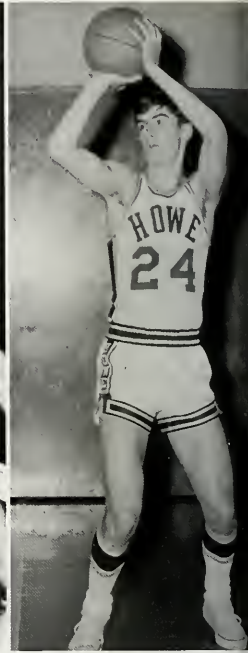

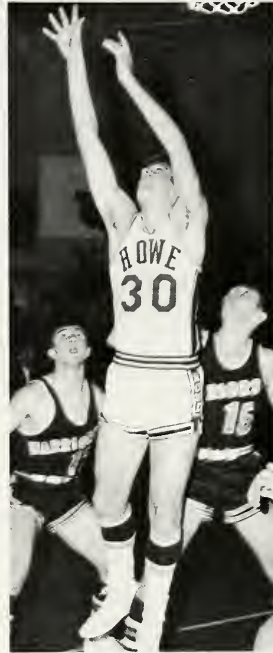

Frequently during the course of the game Coach Stutz is forced to call a time-out, during which the team refreshes themselves.

Record Belies True

Driving past a player from Warren Central, Jim King lays the basketball up for an easy two points. Howe lost 52-58.

Gary Throckmorton (left) and Mike Johnson helped to stabilize the Hornet scoring attack; they also contributed to the team effort with many valuable rebounds and assists.

Mettle Of Varsity Basketball Team

Mike Johnson, senior forward, was named to the All-Sectional team for his eighteen point performance in the Lawrence Central game in the Coliseum Sectional. Also a leading rebounder, Mike helped establish the board strength of the team. Another senior, Jim King, led the team in scoring and assists—14.7 points per game and 72 assists.

Juniors Gary Marshall and Gary Throckmorton led the team in free throw percentage and rebounds, respectively. In addition, Throckmorton was the second leading scorer for the Hornets.

As a team, the boys averaged .400 from the field, and .633 from the charity stripe. Although their opponent's point average per game was 64.7, the Hornet cagers averaged 62.0—a difference of 2.7 points per game, which proves the Hornets were not the team their 6—15 record indicates. Mr. Jim Stutz completed his eighth year as coach.

Craig Reinhardt, Tom Summit, and Larry Ott, members of the frosh basketball squad, were instrumental in its success.

Mr. Dave Stewart became the Junior Varsity coach this year replacing Mr. Roger Schroder, who moved to the new Marshall High School. By the same token, several of the outstanding basketball players of previous Howe teams have been replaced by their brothers—Dale Barrett by Rex, Dave Miller by Mark, and Gene Holstein by Horst. A brother combination of Bill and Tim Smith, sons of Science Department head Mr. William Smith, also made the team. Bruce Dobson, Dave Smith, and Mike Wray were other outstanding members of the team. Mr. William Walker was the official scorekeeper for the teams, and Mr. Justin Rehm was the official statistician; both were invaluable to the teams.

Frosh Cagers Savor Winning Season

Craig Reinhardt, Jim Byrne, Lennie Thornburg—these are names which immediately come to mind when one thinks of future basketball teams at Howe. Along with the rest of the Hornet freshmen and the new coach, Mr. Robert Mitchell, these boys compiled a season record which is comparable to any in the city. Moving to the semi-final of the City Tournament, the frosh were making a strong showing before bowing to the eventual City Champs from arch-rival Tech High School.

Bruce Dobson battles for a rebound with a player from Bloomington University while Mike Wray reaches over to lend a hand.

With the ball hanging on the rim, the Hornet reserves prepare to "crash" the boards and grab the rebound if the ball fails to drop.

New coach Mr. Robert Mitchell hands out assignments to his freshman roundballers, who finished the season 15—6.

Keith Bradley, City Champ in the 127 pound weight class, applies leverage to his opponent in an effort to pin him.

Varsity Coach Mr. James Black ended his first year at Howe with somewhat of a disappointing record. Several individual standouts brightened the picture, however, and from that standpoint, the year was termed a success. Senior Keith Bradley wrestled undefeated for the regular season, encountering his first defeat in the Sectionals where he lost in the final round of the 127 pound weight class. Keith was City Champ. Larry Burger finished third, and Mark Stephens finished fourth in their weight classes in the Sectionals.

Matmen Grapple For Successful Season

Senior heavyweight Mike Spaulding struggles with an opponent from Tech in an attempt to score a takedown. Hornet grapplers defeated Tech 24-21 in a dual meet in the Howe gym.

As in track and cross country freshmen and junior varsity wrestlers often combine forces to create an underclassmen team. They wrestle simultaneously with the varsity, each team using separate mats. Coach Mr. Robert Wion's first year as JV mentor ended just under the fifty per cent mark in the won-lost column.

Another procedure, peculiar to wrestling, is the challenge system. Any member of the JV squad may challenge a varsity wrestler in his weight class who loses a scheduled match. If the JV wrestler defeats the varsity man, he replaces him for the next match. This keeps both teams in top form.

THIRD ROW—Dennis Findlay, Jerry Bertram, Steve Chadwick, Gary Throckmorton, Jeff Bertram, Bill Taffinger, Charles Pettee, Charles Scharbrough, Chuck Welcher.

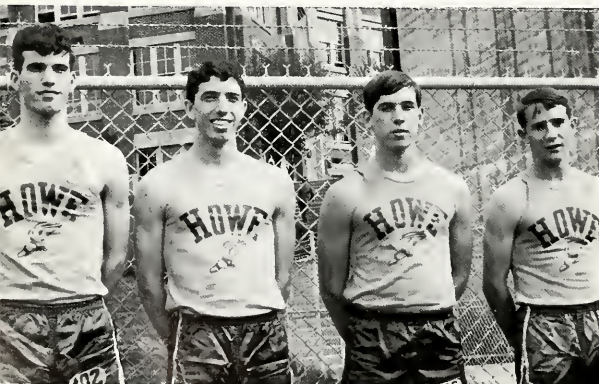

Coach William Walker's varsity track team had an outstanding season despite many freak injuries which sidelined key players. Paul Morrison was injured in the first meet, developed blood poisoning later in the season; yet, he still set a school record of 9:44.5 in the two mile run, and qualified for the State Tournament. Hurdler Larry Pritchard lost six weeks of training because of injuries, but established a school record of 14.8 seconds in the high hurdles. He also qualified for the State Tournament in the high and low hurdles. The thinly-clads opened their season by hosting the Hoosier Relays at I.U.

Enjoys Another Successful Season

Precious seconds may be gained at the start of a race by using the correct form. The starting blocks must be placed just right, and the runner must know how to use his arms effectively in order to gain momentum. Larry Pritchard has near-perfect form.

Senior Myra Johnson, Hoosier Relays Queen, admires one of the trophies she presented during the day of competition. An annual event, the Relays is the nation's largest indoor meet.

Straining for every last ounce of thrust, Alan Koehring pushes up and over the cross bar. He was the team's primary vaulter.

Larry Pritchard, who qualified for the state in high and low hurdles, strains over a hurdle while practicing his form.

Freshman Dave Martin practices his high jump form during the pre-season workouts held in the gymnasium.

Howe placed 3rd in the City

Junior varsity track, under the direction of Coaches Mr. William Walker and Mr. Richard McLeish, ran simultaneously with the varsity track team. Since the junior varsity team's roster fluctuated constantly with the varsity team roster, a stable team with a stable record was, and is, an impossibility. Freshman track, under Coaches Richard Patterson and Harrison Richardson, operated under the same handicaps; outstanding members of the frosh team were sent to the varsity.

With fourteen events and twenty-eight boys competing per team, the track teams provide competition for many boys who would otherwise have been excluded from athletics—therein lies the worth of junior varsity and freshman track.

Long distance runs, such as the two mile run, are the specialty of Paul Morrison. Paul holds the school record in this event.

Jeff Sirmin turns to check on the ball before rounding third base for the long sprint towards home plate.

Hornets Runners-Up In Sectional

Even though the umpire's decision is always final, Coach Schroder sometimes disagrees with him.

Spring, 1967, was the date of the first annual I.H.S.A.A. State Baseball Tournament. Although considered to be one of the top contenders for the crown, the Hornets were eliminated in the final game of Sectional play by a determined Warren Central varsity nine in extra innings.

Varsity coach Mr. Roger Schroder finished his third year at the helm with an excellent 42—24—1 record. He became head basketball coach at the new Marshall High School at the end of the year.

Although there is no tournament to determine a city champion, the Hornet's record of 11—3 topped all rivals and qualified the team for the honor. Mike Johnson and Don Britton were the star pitchers for the year. Catcher Mike Fotiades, Al Rohrer, Tom Merriman, and Greg Kamp were valuable to the team at the plate, as they drove in most of the team's eighty runs during the year.

Freshman baseball took the spotlight this spring as they rolled to a season record of 8—3 and the honorary city championship. Under the direction of Mr. Richard Patterson, the frosh team, which also ran the freshman track meets, laid a good foundation for future spring sports at Howe.

Losing their three games by only seven runs, the frosh showed an excellence in athletics which will definitely be cultivated in future years in the Hornet drive for the State Championship.

While putting takes much concentration, a golfer must master the stroke to lower his score. Greg Martin, junior team member, strives for perfection on the green.

Needless to say, varsity athletics are not for everyone. Reserve and freshman sports also leave many boys without the facilities and the organization they need for a well-rounded athletic program. Intra-murals, therefore, fill the gap for those who lack the skill or the size for the school's athletic teams. Basketball is the major intra-mural sport, although bowling, wrestling and cross country have been added in recent years. One innovation has been added to the intra-mural basketball program. Members of the freshman-sophomore league picked names for their teams from the new American Basketball Association, while juniors and seniors chose names from the National Basketball Association. Mr. Don Evans is faculty sponsor of the intra-mural program, with assistance from Mr. Barton Richardson. Mr. Richard Patterson sponsors the new bowling league which bowls at nearby Play Bowl.

Basketball is the major intra-mural sport. Dave Sweeney drives around Carter Babb during a junior-senior game.

Student Managers Assist The Athletes

Preparing equipment, running errands, offering helpful advice and lending moral support are the major jobs of student athletic managers, the unsung heroes behind every successful athletic team. Keeping and recording statistics from each game is another job filled by managers. Supervising the managers, Mr. Dale Dinkens takes charge of minor injuries received during the season and also is in charge of the preparation and the repair of the equipment used.

In addition to their regular duties, student managers assist the officials at wrestling meets by keeping time and score.

Underclassmen

In later years the HILLTOPPER will serve as a reference to help recall a girl with braces, a freckle-faced boy that kept the English class in an uproar, the boy in home room that got all the conferences, the girl John used to date, the boy Sally admired, or what's-his-name who moved away before graduation. A story in some future newspaper concerning a promotion, a wedding, or perhaps a death will cause the former Howeite to check the Album section of this yearbook to put a face with a name. For even though high school experiences seem so vivid now, time will blur many faces and erase many memories.

During a PTA Tea Mr. Frank Tout, vice-principal, chats with math and science teacher Mr. Barton Richardson.

Mr. Charles Ruschhaupt, vice-principal, places an order for additional supplies from the school office.

From Efforts Of Administrators

Howe's administrators are most important to the student body. Mr. Frank Tout, vice-principal, is available for individual counseling and heads teacher-pupil personnel relations. In charge of building and grounds, Mr. Charles Ruschhaupt, another vice-principal, also serves as the school's bursar and keeps its books in order.

Deans Mrs. Mildred Loew and Mr. Robert Carnal handle discipline problems and attendance routines. Mrs. Loew also directs all extra-curricular non-athletic activities.

Behind the scenes Principal Mr. Thomas Stirling guides all aspects of the school. His leadership has strengthened the school's motto, "Howe Done Is Well Done."

Mr. Thomas Stirling, principal, listens attentively as Mrs. Mary Smuck, math teacher, explains a problem to him.

Mrs. Barbara Wood and Mrs. Ruth Reed, guidance counselors, go over changes that must be made in semester programs.

Mr. David Baugh, Director of Night School, and Mrs. Alberta Folis, check over night school enrollment for this year.

Competent Working Staffs Keep School

A new member of the office staff, Mrs. Virginia Hall checks daily attendance. She also serves as Mr. Carnal's secretary.

Cafeteria workers, Mrs. Mildred Lindnauer and Mrs. Martha Dalton, keep busy filling paper cups with pickles.

Many students do not realize the work done by the cafeteria staff. While daily preparing the lunches for over 2300 students and teachers, they make their own cakes, pies, and soups. Most of the women who work in the cafeteria are mothers of former or present Howe students.

In addition to keeping the school clean, the janitors also care for the surrounding grounds, direct traffic at school functions, and serve as night watchmen. A completely refurbished building resulted from the efforts of plasterers and painters during the second semester.

As head custodian, Mr. John DuChemin is in charge of all of the people who keep the building clean.

Running Smoothly

Office personnel serve as able assistants to administrators, relieving them of most clerical duties. In addition to secretarial responsibilities, the ladies also help counselors to organize program scheduling and to keep permanent records up to date. Prospective employers and colleges often require their help in getting information about graduates.

Phone calls from parents occupy the morning hours of the attendance clerks; absenteeism and cuts are checked later in the day. School law requires attendance records be accurately kept.

Checking the present enrollment list in the Pupil Personnel Office is one of the many jobs of Mrs. Eloise Steed.

Mrs. Norris Heidelberg keeps busy at the switchboard while Mrs. Evelyn Miller, a new office staff member, checks appointments.

400 Club Gives Time To Better School

Members of the 400 Club line up before a football game to receive their assignments from President Mr. Horace Pettee.

From ticket taking to working the basketball concession stand, 400 Club members work for the betterment of Howe. Fund raising projects such as selling Howe license plates, pens, and membership cards provide money for cheerleaders' coats as well as new athletic equipment.

Organizing their endeavors, the 400 Club is divided into five committees, all guided by the officers. Mr. Horace Pettee, president; Mr. Conrad Romeril, vice-president; Mr. George Moore, secretary; Mr. Ed Pearson, treasurer; Mr. Michael Dugan, adviser; and Mr. Charles Ruschhaupt, faculty representative, were elected in the spring and installed at the first meeting of the year.

Mr. Ed Pearson takes a ticket from a Howe patron at a football game while Mr. Michael Dugan offers her a program.

In between customers 400 Club members Mr. Ed Pearson and Mr. Elmer Summit, Jr. watch the action on the gym floor.

PTA president Mrs. J. F. Keppler and 1st vice-president Mrs. Joseph Lake serve at the annual Christmas faculty tea.

PTA Encourages Improvements At Howe

Howe's PTA is a hard working organization mindful of the school's needs. This year the Parent-Teacher Association is headed by Mrs. J. F. Keppler, president, Mrs. Joseph Lake, first vice-president, Mrs. Ralph McClure, second vice-president, Mrs. George Moore, corresponding secretary, Mrs. Edgar Pearson, recording secretary, and Mrs. William Dixon, treasurer, all elected last spring.

Parent Education meetings are held four mornings during the year. General meetings followed the theme, "Howe's Traffic Pattern" this year. Money earned from the football concession stand enabled the association to purchase new leotards and warm-up jackets for the gymnastics team.

At the faculty tea Mrs. Laverne Coffin listens to Mrs. Thomas Stirling discuss her up-coming trip to the Rose Bowl.

Mr. Charles Ruschhaupt, Mrs. Harriette Baker, and Mr. Frank Watkins relax and socialize after school in the library.

Consisting of several underclassmen, the band assists the cheerleaders at home football games by helping to promote spirit among fans. During half-time the band performs routines originated by band conductor, Mr. Louis McEndefer.

Frosh Adjust To Activities At Howe

Participating in a popular sport, members of this fifth-hour physical education class perfect their basketball skills.

An easily recognizable group in any school is its freshman class. Wandering around the halls trying to find the right classrooms, freshies dodge the upperclassmen who are trying just as hard to confuse them. New clubs and academic opportunities await the eager newcomers who are sure to find something of interest. Forgotten locker combinations and dropped lunch trays are the bane of a freshman's existence, but these soon cease to be a threat for the newcomers.

Orientation, a one-semester course required for graduation, helps freshmen plan their programs and adjust to the many extra-curricular activities at Howe.

Sophs Demonstrate Leadership Ability

Underclassmen Greg Mansfield and Pamela Saba enjoy a few minutes of conversation before the 8:10 a.m. warning bell.

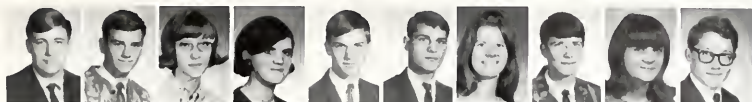

Sophomores do not spend their entire year collecting insects and leaves. They also enjoy the many activities open to them that were not available during their freshman year. Vivacious sophomores were chosen Football Homecoming Queen and Hornet mascot, while other sophomores were chosen for the Quiz Team and the Drill Team. Many are also active in literary organizations, and talented students participate in music groups. Sophomores also competed in athletics and were outstanding on both varsity and reserve squads.

Enjoying some spare time backstage are stage crew members Karen Phelps, Jeannie Day, and Miss Rhoda Kittelsen.

Juniors Look Ahead To Senior Year

Having finally experienced the feeling of being upperclassmen, this year's junior class was one of the busiest and biggest ever. Numbering 558, the juniors found time for participating in the PRV, planning a memory-filled prom, and studying hard. Two typical junior courses which required extra study were Chemistry and U.S. History.

Being sports minded, the class of '69 showed much athletic promise. Many junior boys were outstanding players on the varsity, as well as reserve football and basketball teams. Howe looks forward to seeing them in action again next year.

These juniors seem enraptured with a history lecture concerning Civil War issues.

Seniors

Long-Awaited

Graduation concludes a year filled with preparation and anticipation, with activities and honors. Seniors, in addition to making plans for the future, participate and play important roles in extracurricular activities as leaders of the school. While being recognized for various achievements, they set examples of academic excellence and citizenship for underclassmen to follow. Organized by competent class officers and faculty sponsors, parties, the class play, special programs, and the Prom highlight the busy year. Reflecting on the past seems unimportant as seniors look forward to new jobs and college with determination.

Commencement Opens Paths To Future

Well Aware Of Their Obligations

Preparation for commencement begins for senior Danny Cala as he is measured for his cap and gown.

Jonathan List, 1968 National Merit Semifinalist, is awarded his certificate by Mr. Frank Tout, vice-principal.

Varied activities, as well as scholastic achievement, are the important factors of the senior year. Traditional projects which include the Winter Party, the Senior Play, and other Senior Week activities in the spring constitute a calendar of events that begin with the Junior Prom and end with the long-awaited Senior Prom held at the Indiana Roof.

Students who receive honors and awards bring recognition to themselves as well as to the class as a whole. Winners of the National Merit Scholarship Program, the Westinghouse Science Talent Search, the National Honor Society Scholarship Program, the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow program, and the Kiwanis honor major awards set high academic standards. Appointments to military academies, and scholarship grants to colleges and universities also reward seniors for academic achievements.

SENIOR PLAY CAST MEMBERS: FRONT ROW—Marguerite Lash, Becky Cary, Paula Carmean, James Thorpe. SECOND ROW—Brad Eshelman, Barbara Shadiw, Vicki Bienz, Alvin Jenkins, David Liddle, Kent Smalley. Chosen and presented by the Senior Class of 1968. "The Curious Savage" was organized by faculty director Miss Rhoda Kittelsen and student production staffs. Proceeds from the play presented January 27, 1968, were used to finance the Senior Prom.

Senior Committees And Officers

Mary Graves collects class dues from senior Mike Gibson so he may participate in the various senior activities.

As seniors basked in the glory of being "the highest class," they had the important task before them of electing the members of the Senior Colors and Constitution Committees.

Meeting during home room, the Colors Committee considered several combinations before selecting navy blue, light blue, and white to symbolize memories, high ideals, and purity, respectively.

Revising the Senior Class Constitution was the primary objective of the Constitution Committee. They met the first week of school, before the eight o'clock bell rang, to alter the senior document to the needs of their class. Several vital changes were made by the '68 Committee, including a change in the class dues paid by each senior. Officers were later elected according to the provisions of the new Senior Constitution.

Renew Traditions And Perfect Ideals

Among the many privileges granted to seniors is the right to elect class officers who preside over the year's activities. Through a series of eliminations, six students are elected to positions of leadership.

Chosen to head the Class of '68 was President Greg Kamp. Mary Ann Korbly and Richard Schwier were elected to the offices of first and second vice-president, respectively. Seniors selected Jayne Forgey as secretary, and Gary Brownlee as treasurer. Bonnie Dentler served in the position of alumni secretary.

Each officer spent at least one period daily in the senior office under the supervision of Counselor Mr. William Murray. Working with Senior Office secretary, Mrs. Mary Schwier, the officers planned the various senior activities and assisted in organizing alumni lists from previous years.

Willard Lawrence, James Lowe, Jeanne Roberts, Nan Walters, Paul Williams and Virginia Stewart. Mr. David Baugh is Director of the Evening School Division.

Evening Division: Another Pathway

Seniors don their caps and gowns for the first time to attend Vespers on the Sunday afternoon before graduation.

Now in its second year, the Howe Evening School provides working adults the opportunity to complete high school graduation requirements. From an enrollment of two hundred students, the Evening Division recognized seventeen graduates on May 25, 1967. Enrollment increased to over three hundred this year. In addition to academics, classes for elementary school completion and community interest courses, such as oil painting, are offered.

All seniors participate in Vesper services on Sunday prior to commencement. Traditionally fathers of graduates who are in the ministry take an active part in the ceremonies.

Editors' Page

With the close of another school year comes the completion of the 1968 HILLTOPPER, and with this fulfillment comes the editors' appreciation for the assistance and encouragement provided throughout the year by various individuals and firms.

Representative of the American Yearbook Company, Mr. William Wright, has served as editorial consultant and deserves our sincere gratitude for his help in the production of this publication, while Mr. Robert Blanton assisted the staff as area consultant at the plant in Hannibal, Missouri. Mr. James Shields, owner of Tower Studios, has not only been invaluable in assisting with the photography for the book, but has also supplied materials for the darkroom and has trained student photographers.

Continuing cooperation from members of the faculty, as well as encouragement from members of the administration, has also made the job of publishing the 1968 HILLTOPPER much easier.

Pathways

1968 Hilltopper

A variety of pathways followed by Howeites this year as they completed their freshman, sophomore, junior or senior years can be reviewed in the 1968 HILLTOPPER. In an attempt to record the many talents and achievements of Howe students, an accurate reference book has been created for future years. It is intended that this book also depict the crossroads of experiences that intersect and diverge within the lives of Howe students. For happy or sad, successful or not, interesting or dull—these same paths will not be followed again. Another school year has ended.
